"How Do I Look?"
How frequently thought and study she devotes to it! It is natural. A woman hates to think that she is growing day by day less charming and attractive and youthful to her husband's eyes than in the days of courtship. A woman may always retain her charms and the vivacity and freshness of youth if she will take the proper care of her health. A tremendous percentage of ill-health in women is due to weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an unfailing remedy for all disorders of this nature. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, stops debilitating drains and soothes and tones the nerves. It preserves in a woman all the charm of healthy youth. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

"Favorite Prescription" is sold by all respectable dealers in medicines. Deal only where you are honestly treated. Any store-keeper who tries to give you a substitute for what you demand is not treating you honestly and you should take your trade elsewhere.
For nine years I have suffered with falling of internal organs," writes Mrs. Mary Williams, of Raleigh, Wake Co., N. C. (Box 156). "I was troubled with bearing down pains. I had indigestion and female weakness and nervousness. I could not sleep at night. I was constipated and had great trouble. The doctor here said that no medicine would reach my disease. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' have cured me."
An every-day necessity in the home. A good home medical work. Send at once stamps, to cover mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth binding 31 stamps

An Anecdote of Admiral Dewey.
One afternoon Mr. Dewey came down to my table on the gun deck. With an easy air he sat down on a camp stool and said quietly:
"So you're the ship's writer?"
"Yes, Mr. Dewey."
"And these, I presume, are the ship's books?"
"Yes, sir."
"This is your liberty book. Let me see." And Mr. Dewey turned over leaf after leaf, glancing down the list with a grim smile.
"Mr. Kimberley tells me that you are a conscientious bookkeeper," he said after a pause.
"The men think that I'm too much so, sir."
Dewey regarded me with a searching look.
"Why, what do they say?" he asked.
Boylike, impetuously anxious to learn what manner of man I had to deal with, I blurted out:
"They say they want less book and more executive officer."
Mr. Dewey's face darkened and his square set jaw closed hard.
"If they mean by that that they expect me to sail ship on sweet words and fair promises in spite of past experiences, they will be badly out of reckoning," he said slowly.—Harper's Round Table

The Cota Comes Back.
The large sums that are carried away from Monte Carlo are very few and far between. Generally what is won in one day is lost the next. There are no amusements of any kind. The administration looks after this detail with admirable judgment. Everything is absolutely concentrated in the casino. This is the magnet par et simple. You have delightful concerts free of charge, theatrical performances with the very best of talent at extremely moderate prices, but all within the walls of the all absorbing casino.
Very few can resist the magnetism of play. If you win even a small sum, you feel obliged to continue; if you lose, you wish to regain, and so it goes on until in the end you have dropped more than you can well afford and are obliged to retire a sadder but wiser man or woman, with the option of applying to the casino authorities for the wherewithal to return home. This request is never refused a player who has lost.—Ludgate Magazine.

The Birdlike Love.
"Now, there's the people that buy canaries," said the bird dealer. "Queer people they are. The canary has no more love in it than a cat—not so much as a cat has for a canary. It loves nothing but feed, and it can't make believe as much affection as a cat can when it wants something. But hundreds buy canaries and love them—queer people, lonely people mostly. Some have friends, but that makes no difference about their being lonely. Nobody loves them, just the same."
"But the worst is nobody wants their love either. They are humblelike, though. They don't expect love. All they want is something to love—not much of anything, just anything. So the canary does."
"Yes, I sell lots of 'em canaries, and I can tell every time a customer comes in the door if he wants a canary or canary food."—New York Commercial.

The plant known as vervain, which is not distinguished for its beauty and which grows nowadays utterly disregarded, was so sacred to the Druids that they only gathered it for their divinations when the great dog star arose, in order that neither sun nor moon should see the deed.

You Can't Hear It.
There are many sounds animals can hear which are inaudible to man. Mr. Galton, the famous anthropologist, has invented a little whistle with an adjustable plug, by which it can be rendered more and more shrill till it ceases to give any note to our ears, yet a dog will hear it as a whistle still and answer readily its call.

FAIRYLAND

You need not travel to a star,
The way is easy and not far—
An hour's walk, a mile from town.
The herons of the old lagoons
Lead you along the path; for sign
Are arrowhead blossoms, frail and fine,
Beside the water, then the wood
Takes you, but only by the blood
Leaping, and by the sudden start
Of the overfull and thrilling heart
You know you see it face to face.
The greenwood bowers a sunny space
For song sparrow tinkling, and below
July's green leop is full of snow,
Is drifted rich with white and pink,
Of bouncing bet from brink to brink.
The haunted air resounds between
With humming birds, obscure and keen,
Like burnt out stars that dart and float
With but a last fire to the throat.
You saw but common summer flowers?
Hear'd but a hum that drowned the hours?
Your blood leaped not nor shook your heart?
Ah, well, I know no other chart!
The path is for your feet as far
As that which leads to a star.
—J. Russell Taylor in Century.

BERLIN APPETITES.

Restaurant Men Who Cater to Them Soon Become Rich.
That the restaurant business in Berlin is a paying one, if the location chosen be a good one, the restaurant of the zoological gardens here shows. For a number of years it was leased by a man who understood about as much of the business as the man in the moon. Yet he became wealthy within a few years and retired for good to live on the interest of his money. There were days in summer when he sold 1,000 kegs of beer, besides some 20,000 cups of coffee and 50,000 sandwiches, and as prices are high there he must have made thousands of dollars in a single day.
Fortunately for the public, another caterer now supplies the hungry and thirsty sightseers at the zoological gardens, a man with a good reputation, and he pays twice the rent for the restaurant buildings, too—viz, 100,000 marks per annum, besides spending by the terms of his contract a matter of almost 500,000 marks for improvements. Yet it is probable that he, too, will retire at the end of his term with a fortune.
There are many instances of this kind in Berlin. One of the finest and most highly priced restaurants on Unter den Linden recently sold its good will for a matter of 1,000,000 marks. The owner of a cafe on Friedrichstrasse who started the place but a couple of years ago is reputed already to have cleared about 2,000,000 marks. His head waiter is himself rapidly growing rich from the "trunkgeld" received from the guests and is said to be in receipt of monthly stipends amounting to some $3,000 in American money.—Berlin Letter in Chicago Record.

A German Death Notice.
Under the "collective mourner" system in Germany all the relatives of the deceased bind themselves together to mourn his loss and to defray collectively the cost of advertisement. The case of Mrs. Regina Werschau is an instance in point. She lived to the age of 111 and left behind her many relatives, whose testimony, quoted textually from the Werschau Gazette, reads as follows: "Filled with sorrow we announce to all our relations and acquaintances the departure of our innermost loved Mother, Mother-in-law Grandmother, Great-Grandmother, Great-Great-Grandmother and Great-Great-Great-Grandmother, who departed this life on August 22, 1898." The signatures of the parties affected follow. The German for the last title is "Urnururgrossmutter."

WAGNER'S METHOD.

When Possessed With a Poetic Idea, He Wrote It in Music.
"In one of his writings Wagner tells us that he never felt any musical inspiration unless a dramatic idea had taken complete possession of him," writes Houston Stewart Chamberlain on "How Richard Wagner Wrote His Operas," in The Ladies' Home Journal. "When this was the case, the different personages would, one after another, obtrude upon his fancy, gaining gradually in bodily consistency. Then, all of a sudden, in the dusk of evening, one of these creatures of his fancy would rise up before him, gazing at him with eyes wide open. Fascinated and almost trembling, Wagner would remain with eyes fixed on the figure of his guest from dreamland. But, lo, the shadow's lips tremble and open! What issues from them is neither words nor song. It is a superhuman language, but the poet understands it, and it remains ringing in his ears when the apparition has vanished. This is the precise moment of inspiration. All that follows is more or less mechanical, more or less fortuitous. Whether a work be written out and completed sooner or later will depend upon all sorts of circumstances—time, health, etc."
"This, then, is the essential thing to remember—that Wagner never could compose unless driven to do so by a poetical idea peremptorily demanding the language of music for its full and adequate expression, and that, once this poetical and dramatic idea clearly and permanently ingrained in his mind, it 'included'—if I may so say—the music, which came of itself whenever the author could find time for the business of writing out the score."

Not Superstitions.
"Whose umbrella is that?" yelled the conductor as he entered the smoking car of a suburban train.
The timid little man started and was preparing to apologize for owning the cause of the trouble when the conductor again yelled almost in the same breath, "Put it down!"
The timid little man grasped the dripping umbrella, which he had spread in order to allow it the quicker to dry, and as he closed it with nervous haste the conductor continued:
"Don't you know enough not to open an umbrella in a house—in a car, I mean? Do you want to hoodoo this train? Well, it's mighty lucky you didn't run across a conductor that was superstitious, with that umbrella, or he might have put you off."
The timid little man stowed the dripping umbrella under the seat, watched the conductor punch his ticket, replaced it in a pocket where he wouldn't think to look for it in the morning and breathed a sigh of relief as the car door slammed after the presiding genius of the train.—Chicago Journal

Burton and Tobacco.
Tobacco, divine, rare, superexcellent tobacco, which goes far beyond all the panaceas, potable gold, and philosophers' stones, a sovereign remedy to all diseases; a good vomit, I confess, a virtuous herb, if it be well qualified, opportunely taken and medicinally used, but as it is commonly abused by most men who take it as tinkers do ale, the plague, a mischief, a violent purger of goods, lands, health; hellish, devilish and damned tobacco, the ruin and overthrow of body and soul.—Anatomy of Melancholy.

FREE TRIAL TO ANY RELIABLE MAN

Weak Men Restored, or No Expense for Treatment.
A Course of Remedies—the marvel of medical science—and Apparatus endorsed by physicians will be sent ON TRIAL, WITHOUT ADVANCE PAYMENT. If not all we claim, return them at our expense. MEN WHO ARE WEAK, BROKEN DOWN, DISCOURAGED. Men who suffer from the effects of disease, over-work, worry, from the follies of youth or the excesses of manhood, from unnatural drains, weakness or lack of development of any organ, failure of vital forces, unfitness for marriage—all such men should "come to the fountain head" for scientific method of marvelous power to vitalize, develop, restore and sustain. On request we will send description and particulars, with testimonials, in plain sealed envelope. (No C. O. D. imposition or other deception.) Cut out this offer or mention paper. Address

BOTH TREACHERY AND MURDER.

Hon O. H. Grey, formerly Secretary of State, is a man whose word would pass unquestioned as quickly as that of any man in the State. This gentleman in an open letter relates a conversation which passed between Wallace, others and himself, and also one between Stewart, Governor Colcord, Tremore Coffin and himself. In both of these conversations both Stewart and Wallace urged them as Republicans to nominate a strong man for Congress so as to, using their own words: "Smoke Newlands out of his hole." Later on Mr. Wallace met Mr. Grey and H. C. Dunn, both delegates to the Silver Party State convention at Reno, and repeated his advice, giving as a reason for his interest in the matter, that he would be back with the Republican party in 1900, and he wanted to present a solid front, "so as to be able to resume its place as the dominant party." The foregoing is a synopsis of the matter in Mr. Grey's communication published in yesterday's JOURNAL.

This is the way that Stewart's Lieutenant talked to Republicans. There are hundreds of Democrats in the State and probably in Washoe county, who can testify that this same man, said to them that no Silver party ticket would be seen in Nevada in 1900, but that nearly the entire membership would go over to the Democracy and that the fight would be made under the name and banner of the Democratic party. And this is the director of the element which, under the charge of treachery would read Francis G. Newlands and W. E. Sharon out of the Silver party! False to the Silver party, the Republicans and the Democrats, this wretched horde is true only to the corporation that owns their body and soul, and who will stand ready two years hence to thrust their corrupting and loathsome presence into any political organization, according to the orders they receive from the goldbug corporation that has bought and which holds them as willing political serfs and hirelings.

Stewart and his purchased following will know that they struck the death blow to the Silver party by their action at the State Central committee meeting last Thursday at Carson. They knew full well that they thrust the knife into the vitals of the party, whose honor they professed a desire to maintain and under the shallow pretense of punishing treachery to the victim of their own murderous hands and hearts. The Silver party of Nevada is dead, and peace to its ashes. We could have wished it a more peaceful and honorable passing away. It was wantonly murdered by traitors who first betrayed and then robbed it of its existence. May its death prove a useful lesson to the sincere and honest men who brought it into life. Those who joined the organization in the righteous interest of bimetallicism, will find a cordial welcome under the banner of the great silver party of the nation. They will prove a valuable acquisition, for they will bring with them knowledge and experience which will greatly aid in preventing the perversion again of an almost sacred cause, to the ends of mercenaries whose touch is pollution and whose political presence would bring reproach upon the purest and most patriotic principles that were ever advocated by mortal man.

Come to think of it, the Southern Pacific is a Kentucky corporation, and perhaps after all there is no particular impropriety in gun fighters being imported from that commonwealth into Nevada to bulldoze the legislature into electing a Californian to represent their home industry in the United States Senate. This is a phase of the matter which had not occurred to the JOURNAL before, but it is a wonder that the fact has escaped the notice of the four Stewart papers in the State. That journalistic quartette could have reasonably accounted for Colonel Chin's presence here, without such ridiculous fibbing about his being sent by the National Democratic committee and all of the prominent Democrats and Silver men of the nation who care as little about him or his whereabouts as President McKinley cares what becomes of the disappointed office seekers in Nevada. Truth is stranger than fiction and certainly more creditable to the dispossessors thereof; but being so strange to the disciples of Stewartism, is the probable reason of their economic use of the unfamiliar article.

The Independent thinks Geo. Russell is the proper person for the Democratic members of the legislature to give a complimentary vote for United States Senator. The JOURNAL agrees with the Independent that Mr. Russell is deserving of the compliment, and especially so as he headed the ticket pledged against Stewart, the only man in Nevada, California or elsewhere, whom the Democratic members are pledged to vote against.

THERE is now about a baker's dozen Senatorial candidates in the field. With such a number to choose from, it would seem easy for each member of the majority in the legislature to find some one to vote for, other than the only man he stands solemnly pledged to vote against.

Senator F. L. Flannigan was among the arrivals from the Capital last night.

Stewart's Herders.

It is on the lips of almost all the people who came to Reno from Carson, that Stewart has one or two herders with each member of the legislature who is supposed to be a Stewart man. These men, it is currently reported, are herded like sheep and the watchful eye of the herder is ever on his man to secure immunity from any attack that might be made by other Senatorial aspirants. If what we learn regarding the action of Stewart and his hirelings is true, the position of the men who are expected to vote for Stewart is surely one of the most humiliating positions a man could keep.

To be under surveillance by a man who is so low as to become a spy on his fellow must bring dishonor on the man afflicted—but it seems there is nothing too low for Stewart's creatures to do. It is a subject for inquiry by some of our people if it is possible that men will allow themselves to be dogged and watched by Stewart's men. We can only answer, if half we learn is true, it is not only possible but it is true that they allow themselves to be dogged and watched, and we will also say that if these men were possessed of three grains of manhood, the herders would receive reminders that would last for a life time, and would prevent any future intermeddling by these creatures with the liberties of others. The only explanation that can be given on the subject is that the men who allow such practices have lived and now live in Nevada.

Last Night's Service.

A very interesting service was held at the Methodist church last night. Mr. Jones is thoroughly in earnest, and no person can fail to be interested in what he says, and convinced of the truths he conveys. There will be no service this evening, but on Tuesday evening they will be continued. Cottage meetings will also be held next week, commencing on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mrs. A. M. Ward's on Mill street. Attend these meetings and you will be benefited thereby.

FAKE "FENCES."

A Little Trick That is Worked in Baxter Street.

"There was a time and that not so very long ago," remarked an old time puller in, "when almost every store in Baxter street was a 'fence,' or pretended to be, in order to give customers the idea that they were getting good bargains. The clerk who took a heatating customer aside and whispered 'fence' was generally sure of a sale. There are no genuine 'fences' in Baxter street now, because clothing, shoes and hats are so cheap, but some of the stores still pretend to sell stolen goods.

"When a customer in one of these stores has looked everything over in the shop and hasn't made a purchase, the salesman tells him that he has a little 'fence' down stairs and urges upon him the necessity of keeping it quiet on account of the police. Of course the customer won't say a word. So down stairs they go to the alleged 'fence,' which generally proves to be a big trunk packed with goods.

"While showing the contents of the trunk the salesman keeps up a running yarn about the famous criminals who brought the goods to the store.

"Finally, after showing a lot of stuff of the same quality and pattern the customer refused to buy up stairs, the salesman gets him to try on something, and as quality, workmanship and perfect fit always go with 'fence' goods, there is a sale made. This fake 'fence' answers sale purposes as well as the genuine," concluded the puller in, "and there is no risk attached to it."—New York Sun

A Naval Row, 1702.

At 6 this evening Captain Norris coming on board this ship (the flagship), my Lord Hamilton, Captain Ley, Captain Wishart and Captain Trevor were standing on the quarter deck, and as Captain Norris came up Lord Hamilton asked him if he had taken any more wine or brandy. The other answered no, upon which Captain Trevor asked the price of his claret, whether he might have any at 4 li. a hoghead. Norris said he would have 6 li. or salt water, and then Captain Ley said he would rather the prizes were ashore than he would give 6 li. the hoghead; upon which Captain Norris said he was a rascal that wished his prizes ashore. The other replied he was a rascal, if he called him so, and then Captain Norris struck Captain Ley and threw him over the gun, which Mr. Hopson hearing, as he and I were in my cabin, ran out and upon inquiry found he (Norris) had hurt Captain Ley, and by the admiral's directions ordered him to be confined, upon which Captain Norris drew his sword and offered to stab Captain Ley, but Admiral Hopson, holding his hand, ordered him to be disarmed and confined in Mr. Rayney's cabin.—"Journal of Sir John Rooke"

A Greek Genius.

Diamandi, a native of Pylaros, one of the Greek islands, is a remarkable calculator. After a mere glance at a black board on which 30 groups of figures are written he can repeat them in any order and deal with them by any arithmetical process. It is said that he never makes an error in calculations involving billions, and he can extract square or cube roots with marvelous rapidity and accuracy. An eminent German specialist declared the other day that all these ready reckoners were idiots. This is not the case with Diamandi, who writes poetry and novels in the intervals of business and shows considerable intellectual powers.

Schedule of Games.

The following schedule of University athletic events has been arranged by Director Ellis, Dr. J. Warner Phillips and Dr. W. McN. Miller, who constitute the Faculty committee on athletics.

Feb. 18—Baseball, class of '99 vs. '00.
Feb. 25—Basket-ball, class of '99 vs. '00.

March 4—Baseball, class of '01 vs. '02.
March 11—Basket-ball, class of '01 vs. '02.

March 18—Finals in basket ball.
March 25—Inter-class field day.
April 1—Finals in baseball.
April 8—Basket-ball, Faculty ladies vs. 'Varsity basket-ball team.
April 15—Baseball, Faculty vs. 'Varsity teams.

April 22—Basket-ball, Varsity vs. Mills Seminary.
April 29—Basket-ball, Varsity vs. Stanford.

May 6—Intercollegiate field day.
May 13—Baseball, Varsity vs. Stewart Institute.

This schedule of coming events will be adhered to as closely as possible. Dates will be changed only on account of extremely inclement weather or the failure of opposing teams to arrive on time. It is believed that one or two intercollegiate baseball games will be added to the list.

The Next Show.

The John F. Stowe Uncle Tom's Cabin that is to appear at the Opera House Jan. 26th, is, without doubt, the largest and best on the road. They carry forty people, an immense quantity of special scenery, many new and novel features, including the thrilling and inspiring American military spectacle, during which there is a reproduction of the blowing up of the Maine. A grand cake walk, the animated song sheet, two quartettes, magnificent scenery, wonderful mechanical effects, acing dogs, etc. All under the personal direction of John F. Stowe, a nephew of the celebrated author, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe.

STATE LEGISLATURE

THE NINETEENTH SESSION.

Fifth Day—An Adjournment Taken Till Monday.

CARSON CITY, Jan. 20, 1899. The Assembly having adjourned yesterday until Monday next the members and attaches from outside localities departed, leaving Carson depopulated to that extent.

The Senate held an half hour session this forenoon, taking recess till 2 o'clock when it merely met and adjourned till Monday next.

The business transacted was as follows:

A supplementary report from the committee on mileage, correcting its report of yesterday, was received and adopted as corrected.

Senate Bill No. 3, by Leavitt, providing for the compiling and publishing of the laws of Nevada, was referred to committee of ways and means.

Senate Bill No. 4, by Denton, re-appportioning the Senators and Assemblymen in the several counties in the State, was referred to the committee on Judiciary. It takes one Assemblyman from Storey and adds one to Lincoln.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETES ARE EXULTANT.

Good Prospects for a Football Coach From Harvard or Yale Next September.

Dr. J. C. Stubbs, President of the State University, in an address to the student body just prior to his departure for Washington, D. C., a few months ago, made the following remarks in speaking of a prospective football match with Belmont College.

"Nearly two years ago I was in a Washington hotel when late in the evening a telegram was thrust under my door. I picked it up, tore it open and read these words, 'Score, Belmont 70, Nevada 0.' This news was an unpleasant surprise to me, but I comforted myself, as I went back to bed, with this reflection: Well, anyway I know the Nevada boys gave a good account of themselves. On my return I found this true; our team had lost the game upon the football field, but they had proven themselves to be gentlemen, and the victors bore away a warm place in their hearts for our sturdy Nevada boys.

"By a strange coincidence of circumstances I shall again be in Washington City when your second game of football with the Belmont team is played, and I know that you will give a good account of yourselves. But it is my desire that you win, and if this wish of mine is granted, I promise that I shall not forget you."

Everybody in Nevada knows that Nevada won the second game by a score of 24 to 0, and soon after this, how they defeated Stanford, 22 to 0.

Dr. Stubbs has kept the surprise he has in store for the football team a close secret, but at last "the cat is out of the bag," for it is rumored with good foundation that next fall the University of Nevada is to have a professional football coach from one of the great eastern Universities, either Cornell, Princeton, Harvard, Yale or Pennsylvania.

What an advertisement this will be for Nevada and her pride, the State University. Already our leading educational institution is demanding recognition from the larger colleges of the west; they may soon find in her as formidable a rival on the athletic field as she already is in the higher branches of learning, for the people are beginning to see that a college does not need to be large in numbers to be first class either in educational or athletic standing.

The Meeting To-night.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands will address the people at the Opera House this evening upon matters that have been brought forward during the late campaign and that have been continued and renewed by his candidacy for the United States Senate. Do not fail to hear him. The late unscrupulous attacks that have been made upon him have brought his innate manhood to the front and aroused his hitherto sleeping eloquence in a wonderful manner. It requires occasion to show what sort of stuff some men are made of, and the occasion is at hand with Mr. Newlands. Should he equal or approach his effort at Carson, which we feel assured he will, nothing that has been heard in Reno will equal his logic and eloquence.

A Mysterious Woman.

Some Renoites whose occupations keep them out late at night, are puzzled over the peculiar behavior of a nocturnal street-walker, or rather street-runner, apparently a well dressed young woman, who has been seen on the streets for several nights in succession some time after twelve o'clock.

The evident anxiety of this person to avoid meeting any one has attracted the attention of the police, but as yet they have been unable to ascertain who she is or where she lives, or learn anything about the mysterious work that caused her to haunt our streets.

Attention, Company C, N. S. G.

THE REAL JUDAS.

The Honorable Stand Taken by W. E. Sharon.

It may be interesting to the public to learn what defense Mr. Sharon made before the Silver Party State Central Committee Thursday afternoon, for it will undoubtedly become a part of the political history of Nevada.

Mr. Sharon called Mr. McDonald to the chair and then made a statement with regard to the accusations that had been made against him by the friends of Wallace, the agent of the Central Pacific Railroad and Stewart.

He said he had conscientiously and loyally supported the nominees of the State convention of the Silver party, including Stewart's legislative ticket, up to the time the people of the State of Nevada rendered their verdict by their votes at the polls. That verdict being against William M. Stewart for the U. S. Senate, he considered that absolved him from all pledges made at the State convention of the Silver party, as they had absolutely defeated Stewart's legislative ticket. Therefore he considered it no part of his duty to jam down the throats of the majority of the people of this State a man whom they absolutely repudiated. He showed conclusively that instead of he, Sharon, being the Benedict Arnold and the Judas Iscariot to the Silver party, that Wallace and Stewart were the betrayers of their trust and the men who were really interested in destroying the Silver party. No attempt was made to refute his statements by the friends of Stewart who were present at the meeting, and by their silence they showed that they dare not attempt it. He gave positive and conclusive evidence by statements that were made by Wallace and Stewart to respectable citizens of Carson, that they and not he were the parties who intrigued with the Republican party to defeat the will of the Silver party convention. He stated that if the committee were consistent in their actions in deposing him as chairman, they must also condemn Stewart for the same offense. He also stated they were condemning him for alleged treachery to the Silver party and upholding Stewart for doing the same thing. He branded Wallace, the agent of Stewart and the Southern Pacific, the arch devil who was burning his bridges behind him, as the real destroyer of the Silver party and that all his acts through this committee were to that end, and that he, Sharon, regretted exceedingly to see men who had in the past been loyal to silver the party now acting as the cat's paw to pull the chestnuts in the interest of Stewart and the Southern Pacific Railroad. He stated that the action of the majority of the committee present there to-day was an insult to the intelligence of the present Legislature, and the only reason for which that action was taken was for the possible influence it might have on the members of that body in their choice for U. S. Senator from this State, and that he relied on the intelligence of the Legislature to resent the influence brought to bear by Wallace, Stewart and the Southern Pacific Railroad. He refused to recognize their authority to depose him as chairman, after he had fought them in the last ditch, on the ground that the State Central Committee was not acting legally; that he could not be removed from the chairmanship, as the call was not legal; he would continue to act as chairman and would call the State Central Committee together when the business of the party required it.

Mr. Sharon insisted that Stewart and Wallace's action during the last campaign proved that they were making devotion to silver the mere cloak for their nefarious designs and that Stewart had never yet cast an honest vote for silver; that he was to-day forced upon the people of this State by a great corporation, whose influence against silver had been more potential than any other in the country; that the proof presented by this extraordinary campaign, in which Stewart's only warm supporter was the lobbyist of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and the shameless effrontery with which the relations between the two were publicly displayed, proved that Stewart recognized the power of this corporation and was absolutely subservient to it in all matters, and that his devotion to silver was merely a blind in order to deceive the voters. All of his backers are gold-bugs and he can be relied on to obey their mandates when Huntington's political whip cracks around his ears, as Huntington is known to be the arch gold-bug of them all.

Public Speaking.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands will address the citizens of Reno this evening at McKisick's Opera House. All who are interested in the welfare of the State are invited to be present.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

(Copyright, 1899, by W. T. Foster.)
ST. JOSEPH, MO., January 21.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from 18th to 23rd.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about the 24th, cross west of Rockies country by the close of 25th, great central valleys 26th to 28th, eastern States 29th.

Warm wave will cross west of Rockies country about 24th, great central valleys 26th, eastern States 22nd. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies country about 27th, great central valleys 29th, eastern States 31st.

Temperature of the week ending 8 A. M. February 6th, will average below normal east of the Rockies and above west.

Rainfall for the same period will be above normal east of the Rockies and above west.

The first disturbance in February will reach the Pacific coast about January 30th, cross west of Rockies by the close of 31st, great central valleys Feb. 1st to 3d, eastern States 4th.

Warm wave will cross west of Rockies country about January 30th, great central valleys February 1st, eastern States Feb. 3d. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies country about Feb. 2nd, great central valleys 4th, eastern States 6th.

The great warm wave, forecasts of which have been published, will be inaugurated soon after the date of this bulletin and affect most parts of the United States with a general thaw.

But about the first of February the reverse of this will occur and a great cold wave with a general fall in temperature, will sweep across the continent.

My next bulletin will contain general forecasts for February, including some valuable suggestions about when to complete gathering the ice crop.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework and is as well as the ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement, I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Important to Working Men.

I have just received a complete and large stock of gent's furnishing goods, overalls, underwear, socks, gloves, neckties, collars, cuffs, etc., direct from the factory. Also the celebrated Bull Britches and Levi Strauses overalls in all sizes, which I am selling at prices that defy competition. I have a large assortment of fine all wool blankets, buggy robes, saddle blankets and quilts. I have always on hand a complete stock of all the leading brands of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco which I sell at wholesale and retail. A free employment office in connection with the store.

An Interesting Case.

All people are interested in a new case that has recently cropped up in Reno, and they have good reason for being so. This case contains many striking features. It is Mr. F. P. Dann's show case on Virginia street, down by the iron bridge. It is very beautiful, his new window display of all that is modern in photography. There one may see large opalotypes, small autotypes and lovely porcelain. Just think! Artistic photographs on genuine porcelain. And what do you think of this? He makes photographs on handkerchiefs—on all handkerchiefs. What more appropriate present could be imagined than one of these with your photo on it?
